A panoramic view of a coastal city, likely Lisbon, Portugal. In the foreground on the left, a large, detailed stone sculpture of a lion with a human figure on its back sits on a pedestal. The lion's head is turned to the right. In the background, a large, yellow building with a red-tiled roof and a series of arches is visible. The city extends to the water's edge, with a blue sea and a clear blue sky featuring a vibrant rainbow. The overall scene is bright and sunny.
